BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

A BROLUTELY NO DIFFERENCE.—AN OLD, WELL A known merchant of this city, who for many years entertained conscientious accupies in regard to "stock speculations" and conid never be induced to enter "Wall street," after making and losing three fortunes in "dry goods," came to the conclusion that he had been engaged in a desperate "speculation" all his life, and that there was no difference between trading in "stocks" of rail-roads and stocks of "dry goods," except that the man trading in railroad stocks could balance his accounts any day and a certain just how he stood. In his distress he sought the advice and aid of a prominent steck broker, who soon put him in the way of making a fortune. He is now enjoying health, peace of mind, a clear conscience and the society of his family, and can sleep at night without dreaming of "bills payable" and how to meet them. He is now desirous of aiding others who may be in "straits" as to what to do next, and on receipt of 90c towards paying for this costly advertisement, will send full printed instructions how to operate in stocks without capital and without making losses, and with a certainty of making money. Address A. Z. M., box 214 Herald office.
